

where's my money going?

BUDGETING CAN BE EASY. WE'VE DONE THE HARD WORK FOR YOU

By taking a closer look at your budget, you may find that you can spend more on fun stuff like hobbies and vacations. Here's how:

1. Set your goals.

Your goals might include living comfortably, paying for a child's education, taking a vacation, purchasing or fixing up a home, or having enough set aside to retire when you're ready.

2. Look at your monthly income.

Which sources can you rely on as a regular part of your budget, like paychecks? And which are more irregular, like bonuses?

3. Look at your monthly expenses.

Look back at your bank account statements, credit card statements, and receipts. Which expenses are "fixed" (like rent or mortgage), and which are "variable" (like entertainment and travel)? Just try to get a general idea of your spending habits.

4. Subtract your expenses from your income.

If you have a positive number, it probably means you are saving money. Either way, now may be a great time to think about moving money around in your budget.

5. Ask yourself, "Can I make any changes?"

Are you on track to reach your goals? Are you setting something aside for surprises like an illness or job loss? Try tracking your budget for a couple of months. Along the way, reward yourself for being such a savvy spender. (No one else has to know it's so easy!).
